This week in school

It has been a lovely week in school - well, 4 days ... with children learning about countries and cultures around the world. The year 5 pupils have been making Mayan masks and jewellery - the work is of a high standard, and I watched a lovely lesson earlier in the week where year 2 children were chalking Rangoli patterns on the tarmac in the playground. Our curriculum is broad anyway, but it is important to make the most of weeks like this, that present our children with opportunities beyond their normal experience.

On INSET day this week staff are completing assessments - detailed assessments for each individual child, and looking at long term plans to ensure well matched learning trajectories for the remainder of the year. In other words, we are looking carefully at where the child has got to, and planning where they need to go next in order to get to the correct standard by the end of the year.

Any Old Sports Shoes?

Emily Ainscough has been working alongside a few other local schools who are partnering with a charitable initiative called Conversion. The charity collects second hand sports shoes (boots, trainers, astro-shoes, etc.) for children in Laos. If you have any old sports shoes that you would be willing to donate, please bring them to school the week after half term (19th-23rd February). All sizes would be greatly appreciated. There will be a box to put donations in at the year 6 entrance to school (the door nearest the chicken coup).

REQUEST FROM FoBS

Is anyone able to donate a clothes rail to 2nd hand uniform please?

Donations of good quality uniform which your child/ren no longer need also appreciated. Thank you.
